Hackler Family

Margaret Heckler md James Hynum 8 Nov 1796. The record is in Diocese of Baton Rouge Catholic Church Records, Vol 2, p. 375. What is now Mississippi was then under Spanish rule. The record states that her parents were Martin and Barbara Heckler of Kentucky. Witnesses were Job Ruth and Martin Heckler.

On p. 350, 5 Feb 1795, is the record of the marriage of Elisabeth Hackler, a Calvinist (parents not given) to William Peel, a Calvinist (parent not given) witnesses not given

Don't know what relation Elisabeth is to Margaret. When Margaret and her siblings sold Martin Hackler's land to John Fake in 1805, Elizabeth wasn't among the names.

We have established that there were Hacklers in Mississippi (or what would later be Mississippi) as early as 1795 and that there was a Martin Hackler there at least by 1796 when Margaret md James Hynum. Martin Hackler who witnessed her marriage could be her father or could be the younger Martin Hackler who md Esther.

Young Martin Hackler died in 1803 and his probate records indicate that his children were Charlotte, Mary, Samuel, Jacob, Esther (md. Wesley Woodford Neely from Wayne Co., KY – remember this because of later revelations) and Anna Maria (md David Bullen). A probate entry for Jacob Troxell indicates that Younger Martin's wife was Esther Troxell. She remarried to Lewis Cable in 1805.

Leroy Hackler made an extensive study of the Hechler/Hackler family. He took information that I sent him and made the following leap of faith.

Goerg Hechler of Ingelheim, Germany landed in Philadelphia aboard the Barclay on 14 Sep 1754, with 5 children and, as he later determined, a wife named Susanne. One of these children, and the oldest, was named Martin, age 19 (born ca 1735). Goerg (George) Hackler probably had to indenture himself to pay for passage because not found again until 1761 in Manchester Twp., York Co., PA. Martin is there also. An entry in the records of Christ Lutheran Church reads:
John Georg Hechler born Aug 31, 1761, bap Sept 19, 1761, son of John Martin and Barbara. Sponsors were John George Vogel and Anna, a single woman. Here is where he takes his leap because he ponders that John George Vogel may have been the father of Barbara. I haven't found any primary record that proves her name was Vogel.

Martin Hackler (and supposedly wife Barbara) moved on to Bedford Co., PA by 1783 and in 1790 is found on the census in Fayette Co., PA. He is the only man with the name "Hackler" in the US.

Mary
Samuel
Jacob
Esther
Anna

Here I'll take some leaps of faith of my own. Back to Young Martin who md Esther Troxell. You probably know that York Co., PA is very near to Frederick Co., MD. It is possible that he wandered down there and married Esther Troxell. The reason I say this is because there was a Troxell family in Frederick Co., MD. George Jacob Troxell (Big Jake) was born in 1758 in Frederick Co., MD. Don't know the name of his parents, but he would have been of the same generation as Young Martin Hackler. Guess where he married? In what is now Wayne or Whitley Co., KY to an Indian woman named Cornblossom, daughter of Chief Doublehead, chief of Cherokees for 57 years. [the Troxell family is very interesting). But back to Maryland. When C. Getzendanner (female age 70 whom we assume is Charlotte Getzendanner, possibly maiden name Hackler) was counted on the 1850 census, she gave her birthplace as Maryland. If she was 70 in 1850, then she was born in ca 1780. Young Martin Hackler would have been old enough by 1780 to take a wife and start a family, perhaps in Frederick Co., MD.

Remember that it was stated on the marriage record of Margaret Hackler that her parents Martin and Barbara were from Kentucky. Leaping from Pennsylvania, perhaps Martin and Barbara along with Young Martin and Esther moved further west into Kentucky after the 1790 census, especially if some of Esther's kin was already living there. It is possible that they stayed a while there with other kin and acquaintances and then moved on down into the Natchez District to get some of that land that the Spanish were granting. In the Natchez Court Records land settled by Martin Hackler in 1794 was claimed by Bailey Chaney.

It is a fact that Wesley Woodford Neely married Esther, the daughter of Young Martin and Esther Hackler. Recall that Wesley was from what would later be Wayne County, Kentucky. Wesley Neely's family could have traveled ~~in the same group~~ with the Hackelers or come down later. They were there by 1800 as proved in the Natchez Court Records when William Neely purchased 300 acres of land on Tabor's Fork of Bayou Pierre in Pickering County of the Mississippi Territory. Pickering County changed to Jefferson County in 1802. ~~Also, I~~n Wayne Co., KY Deed Book A , 1804 there is a deed of gift from Anthony Gholson to his grandson Wesley Woodford Neely of Claiborn [sic] Co, Mississippi. ~~Wesley also purchased land on Bayou Pierre in 1804, so he was at least 21 years of age by then, making his birthdate ca 1783~~. I bumped into the Neely family while researching my Hail family in Pulaski County and later discovered the Neely connection in Mississippi. Wesley Woodford Neely was from Wayne Co., KY. Wayne County was not formed until 1801 from Pulaski and Cumberland. Whitley County, KY was not formed until 1818 from Knox County. Pulaski County was formed in 1799 from Green and Lincoln. All this means is that where these people lived before 1799 would later be the counties of Wayne and Whitley.

To stretch this a little further, imagine that Christian Getzendanner leaving Maryland traveled on a route that took him west through Kentucky and then into Tennessee before finally ending in the Mississippi Territory. We don't know if he was traveling with anyone from back home, but perhaps he knew that there were Frederick Co., MD folks in Wayne County, KY or the area that would become Whitley County in 1818. Wayne County and Whitley County are adjacent to Tennessee. ~~If he met Charlotte Hackler and married her in Kentucky, a child could have been expected by the time they headed through Tennessee for Mississippi, and explain why Eliza Ann Getzendanner was born in Tennessee~~.

HACKLER'S HEIRS vs. LEWIS CABEL

Exceptions not taken to the charge of the court below, by a bill of exceptions duly signed and sealed, cannot be taken notice of by the supreme court.

Martin Hackler who died in December 1803, having been entitled under the act of Congress of the 3d of March 1803 in a section of land in this state, as a donation claim, which was recognized by a certificate to his heirs and legal representatives, by the board of commissioners, on the 11th June 1806, and confirmed by a patent issuing to the same persons in July 1819, the surviving widow of said Hackler is entitled to dower in said land. The heirs of Martin Hackler in such a case must claim by descent and act by purchase, and cannot question the validity of the title under which they claim. The patent relates to the act of Congress which is the foundation of the title. It is the act of Congress which constitutes the title, and a patent is not the only evidence of title.

The act of Congress and the proceedings of the board of commissioners constitute in themselves a perfect title in the original donee, which cannot be questioned or revoked by the government itself, (much less by the heirs of the original donee) and the patent must relate to them as the origin and foundation of the title.

OPINION OF THE COURT-BY JUDGES ELLIS & HAMPTON

This case is referred to the supreme court upon the following case agreed, viz:

1st. Martin Hackler deceased, the former husband of the wife of Lewis Cabel, settled on the land in question, in the now county of Jefferson, and state of Mississippi, in the year 1797, and occupied and cultivated the same, until his decease, which took place on the 6th December 1803.

2d. After the death of Martin Hackler, his widow, the present Mrs. Cabel, on the part of, and as natural guardian of Charlotte May, Samuel, Anna, Maria, Jacob and Esther Hackler, heirs of Martin Hackler, deceased, entered a claim for said land, in the name of the said heirs and legal representatives.

3d. On the 11th day of June 1806, the board of commissioners west of Pearl River, gave a certificate to the heirs and legal representatives of said Martin Hackler deceased, certifying that the said heirs were entitled to a patent for said land, (640 acres) from the United States, by virtue of an act of congress regulating the grants of land, and providing for the sale of lands, of the United States south of the state of Tennessee, passed 3d March 1803.

4th. A patent for said land issued from the President of the United States, on the 15th day of July 1819, confirming the claim to said land to the legal representatives of Martin Hackler, deceased, (being a donation.) Now the question for the decision of the court is, whether the petitioners are entitled to dower in said land.

At the trial before the superior court, the plaintiffs in ejectment, Hackler's heirs, obtained a verdict, and a motion for a new trial was made and referred to this court, and the reasons assigned are-

1. The judge mistook the law.

2. The verdict is contrary to evidence and law.

3. The heirs of Hackler are estopped to question the title of their ancestor. The defendant claims in right of his wife, who was the widow of Martin Hackler, deceased, dower in the premises in question. The premises in question, is the place whereon the said Martin died, and where he had lived several years previous to his death. The widow's dower never has been assigned her in the estate of the deceased.

The counsel of the defendant contended, that the court erred in charging the jury, that dower was not allowed a widow in land claimed, as a donation, when the husband died previous to the emanation of a patent, and in charging the jury, that the widow could be ejected from the mansion house of the deceased, previous to the assignment of her dower.

Before we proceed to the examination of the questions arising in this case, it may be well to remark that the second reason assigned.—The verdict being contrary to law and evidence, is the only one this court can respect, except so much of the third, as is admitted in the case agreed. It is obvious, that if the judge erred in his charge, to the jury, exceptions should have been taken at the trial, and an exhibition of the points made by a bill of exceptions, duly signed and sealed by the judge. Such exceptions would then have framed a part of the record, and might have been examined, by this court—but as the case is now presented, in the absence of this evidence, and in the absence of the judge's report, sitting out the contested points of his charge, this court cannot proceed upon the bare assignment of errors, as conclusive or satisfactory evidence of the misdirection of the judge. When this case was under argument, our impressions were unfavorable, to the motion, but upon a careful examination of the authorities, and the principles involved, we have had some reason to doubt the correctness of this hasty bias.

The case agreed, admits, that on the 11th day of June 1806, the board of commissioners west of Pearl river, issued a certificate to the heirs and legal representatives of Martin Hackler, certifying, that they were entitled to a patent from the United States, for the premises in question, and that in pursuance of said certificate, a patent eminated in their names, on the 15th day of July 1819. These proceedings were had under the act of Congress, passed 3d March 1803, anterior to the death of the ancestor which occurred on the 6th of December, in the same year, and the certificate of the board of commissioners, which is confirmed by the by the subsequent patent, is satisfactory evidence, that Hackler had entitled himself, and on his subsequent death, his heirs, and legal representatives, to the statutory title conferred by the said act of Congress-Let us now enquire into the nature and character of that title. By adverting to the act, sec. 2, page 546,-3rd laws United States, we read, "that every person, or legal representative or representatives of every person, who, being either the head of a family, or of twenty one years of age, did, on that day of the year seventeen hundred and ninety seven, when the Mississippi territory was finally evacuated by the Spanish troops, actually inhabit and cultivate a tract of land in said territory, not claimed, by virtue, either of the preceding section relating to the confirmation of British or Spanish warrants or orders of survey in the hands of actual settlers and residents on the 27th October 1795, or of any British grant, or of the articles of agreement and cession between the United States and the state of Georgia, the said tract of land thus inhabited and cultivated, shall be granted. Provided, however, that not more than one tract shall be thus granted, to any one person, and the same shall not contain more than six hundred and forty acres; and provided also, that this donation shall not be made by any person who claims any other tract, in the said territory, by virtue of any British or Spanish grant or order of survey." The first reflection which presents itself upon the reading of this clause of the act, is, that it contains the recognition, on the part of the government, of a good and adequate consideration, of equal validity, in reference to the accruing right of the citizen to a full pecuniary one. It sets out all the circumstances of settlement &c. which are deemed a sufficient inducement to the government, to make a donation grant; and in applying the principle to the present case, we find the proper authorities have declared, that Hackler, the husband and ancestor, in regard to the litigated premises, occupied the attitude required by this act. The government, has therefore, by their own acknowledgement, received of him all the consideration required for such grant, which is termed a donation, to contradistinguish it from such as are made for a pecuniary consideration, all which, in contemplation of this act, are prospective, and not immediate, except such cases, in regard to which the consideration is supposed to have passed, to a former government.

The second obvious inference from the premises, is, that the government, for the consideration expressed, which you may call if you please, conditions precedent, performed, has by the said clause, vested a legal right to a donation grant in all persons, designated by its description. A right of that nature and character, which by the terms of the act, is made descendable and inheritable. As however, in the clause relating to the persons to whom pre-emption preference is given, the same language is used in favor of the heirs and legal representatives, it may perhaps, be going too far to say, that the act of Congress in this behalf, can be considered as affording the most satisfactory evidence, of the peculiar character, of the cession, or grant, Congress intended to make to donees. But however inconclusive, this language may be, there are other terms and expressions, which cannot be easily misunderstood. The expression used in the act, "the said tract of land thus inhabited, and cultivated, shall be granted" and the expression "donation," are certainly words importing, when spoken in reference to land, the transfer or investiture of some title. In the clause referring to the preference given in the purchase, to those who were actual settlers and cultivators of the land at the time of the passage of said act, the courtesy and benefit intended to be conceded to them, are very clearly described and ascertained, and extend to a prospective pecuniary consideration. But it is contended, that the full consideration was not received by the government, because there were to be paid by donee certain fees of office and for surveying, which constituted conditions precedent, and that there were measures, to be pursued, before the consummation of title in a patent, which only could invest a full and perfect legal title, to sustain the former part of this objection, the court is referred to the case of Vanhorn's lessee vs. Dorance, in 2 Dallas 317.

On examination, we consider this case as proceeding upon the construction of a statute divesting the right of certain Pennsylvania claimants, and vesting them in certain Connecticut settlers, upon conditions, to be performed by the latter, to consumate their inchoate titles before commissioners. The courts view with jealousy, the operation of a law, affecting the vested rights of one citizen, to the advantage and favortism of another, and maintained an equitable construction of this act, in its aspect impairing the rights of the Pennsylvania claimants, and insisted upon a punctilious conformity, on the part of the Connecticut settlers, to all its requirements. We cannot deem this case analagous to the present, where the government is a volunteer in its bounty to one of its citizens, and on this account, if on no other, the declaration of its munificence, should, by the courts, receive in reference to the rights of the citizen a most liberal an equitable construction. Proceeding by this rule, we have no difficulty in ascertaining, that the execution of fees, very inconsiderable indeed, the only pecuniary contribution required, is by no means intended to enrich the coffers of the government, as a substantive part of the consideration, upon which the grant proceeded, but only are equitable requirements on the part of the government, that the donee should defray a reasonable proportion of the expenses incurred, for his benefit, in a more specific location and identity of the property ceded. The regulation, respecting the commissioners and the proceedings to be had before them, in reference to donation grants, are governed, and dictated in part, by the same policy, having in one view, the ascertainment of the unappropriated domain of the government, and in the other, the designation and quieting of the rights and claims, of the citizens. This conclusion will be manifest, and the subject will be further illustrated, by reference to the clauses in this act, which speak of these subjects. A quotation of these passages at length, would occupy more time and labor than in reference to other engagements of the court, can be devoted to this case; we shall content ourselves with such remarks as occur, on careful examination of them. On this scrutiny, we perceive, that as respects all the matters objected to, donations are equally formidable as regards British grants, which in their registry, certificate, patent, and concurrent expenses, are pari passu with donations. Would it be contended, that the wife of a British grantee, on the death of her husband, subsequent to the passage of the act of recognition, and anterior to the issuing of a certificate by the commissioners, and the emanation of a confirmatory patent, would not be entitled to her dower? If not, as we suppose it would not, neither can such principle be necessarily contended for in relation to donation grants of the United States. In regard to the former, the time had certainly gone by, during the former government, when the latent right of the wife to dower had existed, and which, on the death of the husband at that time, would have been developed and recognized. In what transition and revolution, are we to look for the abduction of the right existing, though only in obeyance? Certainly not in such acts of the government of the United States, succeeding to the sovereignty of the country, which were adopted for the express purpose, in part, of favoring and establishing these claims, without any diminution of any of the legal implications or consequences, except by the limitations imposed, for the purpose of producing a seasonable exhibition of them. It is sufficiently clear to us, that the government did not consider them as inchoate, imperfect titles, considerations for which have yet to pass, but obscure, perfect titles, for which consideration had already passed to the former government, and the measures adopted in relation to them, were merely to ascertain and designate them, that they might not be enchroached upon in the future cessions of the unappropriated domain and to prevent unnecessary litigation. The same reasoning, we conceive is applicable to the donation grants of the American government.

If the court should be mistaken as to the degree and perfection of right and title, confirmed to Hackler, their opinion, as to what disposition they ought to make of the present motion, may possibly derive some support from the doctrine contained in 5 Cruize on real property 551, where it is said, there is no rule better founded in law, reason and convenience than this, "that all the several parts and ceremonies, necessary to complete a conveyance, shall be taken together as one act, and operation from the substantial part by relation. Livery, relates to the feoffment; involvement, to the bargain and sale, a recovery to the deed which leads the use; so admittance shall relate to the surrender." The same doctrine is recognised in a late determination. Holdfast vs. Clapham, 1 Term Rep. 600, and in 5 Cruize 545.

As to the propriety of the attempt, on the parts of the heirs, to repudiate the title of the ancestor, denying that they take by descent, while they allege they take by purchase, it may be remarked, that this class of cases, are, "sui generis" in which an adherence to great technicality would be unreasonable. Prosecuting their patent they tell us, we take by purchase and not by descent, cast. We refer them to the act of Congress, which looks at this very patent to them, through the avowed consideration, and irrevocable vested rights of their ancestor, and ask, if these had not preceded, where, or wherefore, could they have received the patent? It is the act of Congress which constitutes the title, indestructable even by the government itself, as well before, as after the emanation of the patent, which is only one evidence of title, but not the only one. The act of Congress and the proceedings of the board of commissioners, constitute in themselves a perfect title, in the original donee, which cannot be questioned or revoked by the government itself, (much less by the heirs of the donee claiming under it) and the patent must relate to them as to the origin and foundation of the title. We may well then, refer to the heirs to the doctrine laid down in Gray vs. Harrison, 2 Haywood 292, and to the known law, that a man shall not repudiate the title set up by his adversary, under which he himself raises claims.

We cannot perceive without some emotion, an attempt on the part of so many children, whose filial obligations and gratitude to an affectionate mother, were increased by her care and vigilance in securing to them this very property, to turn her out of that mansion, where so much of her life and health had been devoted in maternal tenderness and watchful affection, to cherish, succor and protect them, during the helplessness of infancy and the ignorance and indiscretion of youth.

Let a new trial be granted.

PREFACE

The Natchez District consisted of territory that now forms five Mississippi counties, Wilkinson, Adams, Jefferson, Clairborne and Warren, as well as Franklin and part of Amite, which were taken from Adams and Wilkinson in 1809. However, only the western fringes of the last two counties were settled before the American occupation.

Being one of a number of Districts in the Province of West Florida, Natchez was ruled by the British from Pensacola, the Capital of the Province. In the Province of Louisiana, of which the District became a part when taken by the Spanish in 1779, Natchez was apparently also governed directly from its Capital, New Orleans, for more than a year. But after the short-lived insurrection at Natchez in 1781, a Commandant was placed in the district to govern the affairs of the inhabitants and to record all transactions, arbitrations and matters that come before a tribunal. Thus the court records of the Natchez District during the Spanish regime are all available from 1781 to 1798. Whereas, although the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress has procured from the Public Records Office, of London, photostats of the records of the Province of West Florida, seventy volumes in all, material on one district is difficult to segregate. The Secretary's Account Books were the most helpful. Among the Mississippi Provincial Archives at the Department of Archives and History, Jackson, Miss., is a one-volume transcription from the Public Records Office, of London, of all the British West Florida land grants in the State. This was procured by Dr. Dunbar Rowland when he was Archivist and he included the list of these grants in Volume One of his History of Mississippi. Practically all of these British land grants in the Natchez District, as well as transfers of them, appear in the Spanish records and in the abstracts of title submitted to the United States for confirmation of land in the District, under the title of Written Evidences. The above records are given in entirety in this volume, hence no separate section is devoted to the period of British rule.

The Natchez Records comprise seven volumes, lettered A, B, C, D, E, F and G. They were arranged chronologically, translated, abstracted and transcribed by "David Turner, Keeper and Translator of the Spanish Records of the Mississippi Territory, at Washington, the Capital of the Mississippi Territory." The first was completed 31 March 1817 and the others at intervals of a few months, the last ending September 1818. The original papers from which these translations were made are in three languages, French, Spanish and English, and are now bound in forty volumes. These are invaluable in identification by signatures, etc. Both sets of the records are in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Adams County, at Natchez, Mississippi, in a modern one-story Records Building, adjoining the Court House.

To a dear little lady, of fine Virginia lineage, who enjoyed acquiring books about her ancestors, a friend mentioned the publication of the Court Records of a certain Virginia County where a branch of her family had lived. "Court Records!" exclaimed the lady, aghast, "Why, my ancestors were nice people! They didn't get into Court Records!"

David Bullen is found on the 1860 census of Jefferson County, MS, District Two: Bullen, Ann E.; Anna; David; David; Ella;John; Randal - in same household. The copy I have does not include the necessary census data, only the names. Will look through my Bullen material and get back to you, but expect the best I'll be able to give a will be a few hints on who his father may have been. Do you have a marriage date for David and Anna Maria Hackler? Annette Elam Wetzel

Does anyone know of a David Bullen who md. Anna Maria Hackler?? They probably md. in Jefferson County of Mississippi Territory btwn. 1815--1830.
Anna Maria's parents were Martin and Esther Hackler. Martin died ca. 1804 and Esther married a Lewis Cable. Martin & Esther's other children are believed to be: Charlotte, Samuel, Esther(Hetty), Jacob, and Mary. I'm from the younger Esther's branch, but am also interested in what others may know about this family & that's why I'm leaving this msg.
Let's make a connection & see what we could exchange that could be valuable to both of us.

Dear Melanie:

Got your letter with the oodles of info — haven't digested all of it yet — but here goes anyway.

About the questions — I'll go to town in the middle of the week & look for the info you need.

I do have an abstract of the A & B books of wills in Jefferson County. (1800 - 1820's) & didn't find anything about John Jake or the Hacklers..

In my "Early Inhabitants of Natchez District" by Norman E. Ellis — I see Juan Jake (English: - John Jake) in the Spanish Census of 1792. = living in Villa Gayosa — as well as a Miguel (Michael) Jake =

In 1810 census

	WM ov 21	WM un 21
John Jake	1	3	Jefferson County
Michael Jake	1	1	Jefferson County
Hackler, Christian	4	2

1816 census of Natchez District

Jake, Henry Jeff Co.
Jake, Thomas Jeff Co.
Hackler, Christian Jeff Co.

In this census of Spanish & 1792 — I find the English spelling of James listed as

Whoops - in Book B page 53 - Jacob Hackler is listed as friend of Thomas Cockburn Jaime consistently — I do not find a Santago ever listed a James. My friend, Hilda — who is Spanish — tells me Santiago is used by Indians in Central America as a common first name. That is a great puzzle to me.

The Harrell that married Margaret Hepburn in 1857 comes from a family that crosses my Vause line.

? do you have anything on Henry M Phillip 1825-1856 m Martha Jourdan 31 Jan 1844 ?

The Calvin H Phillip (1851 - 1919)'s father crosses my Scott line -

Wm McMurchy - Sarah D Watkins's 5th child. Whit Rogillis is three my Brown Line

Whitfield Brown m. Catherine Kelly
1803-1853
son
James Kelly Brown
our line

dau
Frances Ann Brown m. John Rogillis.
She had 4 children & Whit was one of the. John was in Civil War Battle of Vicksburg!

Our lines are really a tangle!

Ill get to your questions this week - Im teaching quilting in Vicksburg Wed & Thurs & have a Tourist meeting on Mon. —

We are starting a 501 C 3 business called LORMAN Rural Arts — will solicit crafts from people in area to sell —as well as teach locals to enhance skills, & increase income.

I find this an exciting venture — I'll let you know how it progresses!

Take care!

Ann Braun

Well. Melanie — I was able to go to the Chancery Clerks offices - (Jefferson County)
Here goes answers =

1. The deed from Hackler / Heynen and John Flake was Book B-1 (1804 - 1813)
Deed 100 on page 138.

2 Wills / Settlements
a Martin Hackler Probate papers A-27
Notice that he died in 1803
see I did not find another Martin
~~b. Samuel Hackler - Probate Papers A-21~~
- Martin Hackler's estate went on until probate 1817.
- There was a claim in 1817 (1809 thru 1817) for $298.07½ for teaching the children it lists 18 teachers
- Lewis ~~Lewis~~ Cable surveyed the land of Martin Hackler & charged $21.22½
- Nov 28th & 30th, 1803 - Dr John Shaw charged for services rendered on those dates to Martin Smith. Filed claim 6 Aug 1806
- 22 Oct 1804 His assests were appraised by John Penner, Willis

o There was'nt very much — most quite unremarkable.

~~b. Samuel Hackler~~

Melanie — look at the claim by Lewis Cable for boarding & clothing Martin Hackler's kids — Mary, ~~who~~, Jacob & Anna as well as Ester. He married her in 1805.

6. Samuel Hackler — Probate Papers A-24 (See attached

c. I found nothing on Christian Hackler however -

Probate Papers - B-53

Hackler, Jacob Ward / Thomas Goodrum Guardian

Probate C-359

d. Hackler, Samuel, dec / Wm Hackler, Adm

Probate A-124

Fake, John dec / Lewis Cable, Adm

Probate B-310

Fake, Jacob, dec / Henry Fake Adm

#3

Probate Papers B-445
Bellen, John dec / David Bellen Adm
Probate D-210
Bellen, David dec / Saml P. Gilbert, Adm

c. I found nothing in Wills, Probate, land records on Troxel / Jroxel.

3. Marriage Records -
(This form I use when I check marriage records -)

These are all the Hackler & Fake marriages I found in Circuit Clerk's office a - I wonder if Christian's might be in Claiborne Co - You see, he lived near Wellis McDonald & a lot of McDonald's records are in Claiborne Co. Ill check that out.

b. Margaret Depriest & William G. Vaun

I did find some Vaughns - no Vauns - but not Margaret H or a Wm Vaun.

#4

c David Bullen
Oddles of Bullens — and I did see a David Bullen married to Elzamira Ann Tarrey 14 Sept 1853

d Thomas Goodrum m _____ couldnt find = however. Notice that Thomas Goodrem, was Adm of Jacob Hackler, estate.

Yes, I knew Mrs Reilly — but haven't thought of her in a long time — I'll look her up. —

Grantor		Grantee
Hackler, Samuel	deed	McDonald	1804 A-2167

Well — I'll have to find the news paper clipping — cannot put my hands on it. I'll keep searching for those unanswered questions —

Take care
Ann

right & Credits within the State aforesaid and are desirous that the said goods & Chattels right & Credits may be administered disposed of do hereby grant Unto William
A. Hackler full power by these presents to administer the goods & chattels right & credit of the said deceased whilst he him in his lifetime and at the time of his death did belong to

Things we know

1. Morten Hacklin [illegible] land grant 1795
2. Martin Hackler [illegible] land in 1796, Feder Co.
3. Martin Hackler will dated Ca 1804
4. Charlotte, Mary, Samuel, Anna Maria, Jacob + Esther my children
5. Esther wife of Martin + Samuel 1805 Lewis Co.
6. Christian, Margaret Michael Samuel, Andrew, and Barbara Hackler sold land in 1805 that had been granted to Morten in 1795
6. Christian b Ca 1775 or earlier
7. Margaret b Ca 1775 or earlier
8. Christian administrator of estate of Samuel who died Ca 1807

Possibilities

1. Could be Martin the immigrant - no will or estate records found
2. Could be son of Martin the immigrant
3. All of his children were minors - he couldn't be Morten the immigrant.
4. A. Named as administrator + guardian of minor children of Martin of 1795 land grant
   B. 1820 Mrs Census gives her age 26-45 born no earlier than 1775 and unlikely wife Martin the immigrant.
5. A. Could be children of Martin of the 1795 land grant since they are selling the land together, but three of them

1 Martin not included
B Could be Children of some other unknown Hackett who left no record of how the land fell to him
6. Would Make him Candidate to be son of Martin the Immigrant or a Contemporary
7. Would make her Candidate to be daughter of Martin the Immigrant or a Contemporary
8. B. Perhaps Samuel is brother to Christian
C. Could be same Samuel in 1805 deed
D. Could never have Married
A. Could be father of Christian - unlikely since he would have been over 90 in 1805 instead of Christian of whom I write, or he may have been a son of the immigrant Martin and Barbara of whom I write. The Martin of whom you write, though, was surely the one of whom I write as being in the Natchez district. I say they may have been different men because of the minor children involved, for the immigrant Martin was born [redacted] probably the third son because of the method the German's used in naming their children. The first was Joh. George, who was named after the paternal grandfather, the second (could it be Samuel?) would have been named after the maternal grandfather, then the third was probably named after the father. It is with a fair degree af accuracy that I list Joh. George, the only child of Martin and Barbara that I have knowledge of, as the first son because of that custom.

Reading this again, I come full face with the possibility that you have no knowledge of the people that I am writing about here. Perhaps it would be better to read the exerpts of my narrative, then return here.

Let us construct our case:

Things we know--

[redacted]

2. John George was a son of Martin and Barbara, and thus the parents followed the German custom of naming their children.
3. Martin Hackler was on the tax list in Bedford Co in 1783.
4. Martin Hackler was included in the 1790 Fayette Co. Pa census.
5. Martin Hackler died in the Natchez dist. of Miss. prior to 1804, and among his dependent children was a son, Samuel.
6. Margaret Hackler Hynum was a Hackler descendent, but with your wording, "as best I can figure out", the identity of the forebearer is not certain.

1. Verified as the immigrant Martin.
2. Whether or not he reached maturity is not known, but we have found him nowhere else. Verified as the immigrant Martin.
3. a. Was probably the immigrant Martin.
   b. Was a son of the immigrant Martin. We discard this theory because such a son would have been born in the 1760's and reached maturity in the 1780's. He would have been too young to head a household of nine whites.
4. a. Was probably the immigrant Martin.
   b. Was a son of the immigrant Martin. We discard this theory because he would have been too young to head a household that included three males over the age sixteen.
5. a. Could have been the immigrant Martin if he has married a younger woman upon the death of Barbara and started a second family. That would not have been unusual in those times. In my research, I have found that this happened very often.

b. Could have been a son of Martin.

c. Could have been someone not related to those above.

6. a. Could have been Mary Margaret or Esther Margaret, dau. of 5a or 5b above.

b. Could have been the daughter of Samuel, named as an heir of Martin, whether 5a or 5b above. A check of later census records might reveal if she were young enough to be this subject. Her birth would have had to have been after 1804, for Samuel had apparently not yet reached maturity in 1804, although his age is unknown.

c. Could have been the dau. of Samuel, yet another hypothetical son of the immigrant Martin. In that case, Samuel and Martin, two hypothetical sons of the immigrant Martin, went to Miss. together. Other than (b.) above,I find no other way to place a Samuel in the picture that is old enough to sire Mary. In this case, the Martin listed in the Natchez court records would likely not be the immigrant Martin, otherwise, he would have two sons named Samuel. Also, due attention is given to your statement that Martin may have been a brother of Samuel's.

c'. Could have been dau. of 5c above.

Of the possibilities named, you may wonder which I prefer. My opinion is no better than one shaped by another, but if I am pressed for an opinion, I will state that I think that Martin, named in the 1790 census, was the son of Georg. I also think that Martin, named in the Natchez information, was the son of the immigrant Martin. I base this opinion upon your statement, "As best I can figure out, Margaret Hackler Hynum was the daughter of a Samuel Hackler", and "He may have been a brother to Samuel". A check of the age of Margaret in census records should help you sort Margaret from 6a, 6b, or 6c above.

[illegible]orting these people becomes very complicated, but I have learned that it is very important to make a hypothesis about the subject then attempt to prove it wrong. In that manner, we often come across material that we would probably otherwise overlook that proves the hypothesis. Please remember that I have no [illegible] hypothesis was made only because of the dependent children in Mississippi.

It is regrettable that my research has only revealed Joh. Georg as the son of Martin and Barbara Vogel. --If only the 1790 census takers had foreseen our interest in them, and listed the names of [illegible] families?

I do not have the information at hand just now, but I am almost sure that I have in my notes a reference to a Samuel in Mississippi in the 1830 or 1840 census. You have a great advantage in where you live, for you are near excellent libraries, and it will not be difficult to check that out. If you find him there, he will probably be the Samuel that was a dependent son of Martin (1804).

descendents of Goerg, separated by hundreds of miles that probably prevented them from ever seeing each other again, separately changed their name to Hackler.

I really haven't told you very much, have I? --Except to inform you of the existence of Goerg and Martin his son. One would think that we have a common ancestor in Goerg, we just do not know whether there was one or two generations of Martins. I only hope that I have opened areas of research that will point you in a direction to proceed. If you find more information, I would like to include it in my narrative.

I console some correspondents, who after much research can not yet determine their complete line, by comparing their line to I-35E through Dallas and I-35W through Ft. Worth. You may know that all of our lines traveled south of Gainesville as Hechlers and you may know your line among the many Hackler lines that are traveling south at Hillsboro; you simply do not know whether your line went through Dallas or Ft. Worth. If you are never able to determine which way they went, though, it can still be very rewarding to know where they started. I hope that you can determine the intermediate journey

My research efforts still include Martin, son of Goerg. If I find anything further, I will inform you. Please keep me informed. I value you as a correspondent.

JS GOERG HECHLER
1708, probably at Ingelshime (Ingolsheim), Palatinate Province, Prussia
1773 or 1774, York County, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

et us try to obtain a mental picture of one of the peasant ily groups aboard the "Barclay". They were from Ingelshime, Zwiebruecken, in the province of Palatinate. This province was located in Alsace, which with the adjoining Lorraine, made up [illegible] through the years and deep the booty claimed by both the Russians and the Franks in their many wars. In a medieval age, the transfer of allegiance to a sovereign may have been occasioned by plot, marriages, or inheritance. This writer is unsure to whom they owed their allegience before they left their homeland, but I think that it was owed to Louis XV of France. Zweibruecken can now be located in the far western area of West Germany. My reference books do not show the Prussian boundary extending this far west in 175[illegible] Prussia controled enclaves of land that was west of their western boundary. Zweibruecken and Ingelshime may have been located in one of those enclaves. It is more likely, though, that they were from an area ceded to France in 1648 by the Treaty of Westphalia, and it would not be returned to Prussian rule until the end of the Franco-Prussian War in 1871 when Germany reclaimed all of Alsace and most of Lorraine.

Prussian blood ran in their veins. A sovereign's whim to arrange a marriage between one of his children and one from another sovereign in an attempt to settle land disputes did not change the character or quality of their blood. They may have paid their taxes to Louis XV, but their loyalties resided with the people ruled by the Prussian sovereign.

Prussia's history was merging into that of Germany under the influence of Frederick the Great, who was unifying a loose confederation of states that had in the previous century lost half it's population in the "Thirty Years War". France was almost in a state of prostration that resulted from exhaustion of men and resources during the "War of Austrian Succession" that ended in 1748.

The peasant family group is headed by Hans Goerg Hechler. He is probably a widower, since no mention of a wife is made when he leaves the village where his family has probably lived for centuries. A simple notation is made; "Goerg Hechler of Ingelshime (Ingolsheim) leaves with his five children for America." Thus began an adventure that has an ending. I, his great, great, great, great grandson, will now attempt to tell you a story about this man and many of his descendants. My relations are nine generations removed from this man, but had not he lived and begat children, none of us would have ever lived.

On Saturday, Sept. 14th, 1754, the passengers of the "Barclay" disembarked at Philadelphia, Commonwealth of Pennslyvania. During the course of this exciting day, they faced three different clerks, who recorded their names and age. All males who had attained their sixteenth birthday were recorded. The 19 year old was recorded separately from his father. The first clerk was probably stationed at the point of debarkation, and they must have been told to stay in the same order throughout the several recordings, which they did to a remarkable degree.

[illegible] of the first clerk, who was undoubtedly recording the name as it sounded to the English ear. It is almost as certain that the third clerk understood the German tongue and its translation into English. The first recorder wrote the names of thirteen of the men as "Yerrick" if it were their first name and as "Yerr" if it were the middle name, but he recorded no "Georg". The third clerk not only had no "Yerrick", but he recorded them all as variations of George. The twenty fourth family group disembarked and the first clerk recorded the head of household as Hans Yerr Eygler, and noted his age as 46. A small "k" appeared above and to the right of the last "r" in Yerr. The forty first man was recorded as Martin Heighler, age 19. As you can see, the sound of the names was almost the same in both men, but we can not recognize either as our ancestor.

The name of the twenty fourth man was recorded by the second clerk as Yerrick Eyler. The second clerk missed Martin, but instead recorded Andreas Grysil, the fortieth man, twice, first as Andreas Gresil, then as Andreas Kriessel. The second clerk did not ask their age, but instead asked if they could write their name. The presence of their mark, usually an "X", indicated that they could not write their name. Georg and Martin were two of forty one men who could not sign.

The band of immigrants probably next received a dissertation on the duties of citizenship in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and as subjects of the English king. They must have been asked to renounce claims of citizenship in their homelands and to pledge their lives, if need be, in allegiance to their new homeland. They were told of the importance of having their names correctly recorded in this final ceremony before obtaining citizenship. Georg may have had a child that could assist him with the spelling of the name. He may have brought papers from Ingelshime, or if he were indentured, his master may have met the ship with the papers that he had negotiated with Georg through the burgomaster in Ingelshime. It may have been that all the 113 had papers that revealed their true name and were asked to present them to only the third clerk. Anyway, Hans Yerr Eygler was recorded as H. George (H) Hechler, with a dot placed above the first "e" in Hechler. This spelling is almost identical to that written when he left Ingelshime. Note that his mark was "+". Martin was recorded as Martin (O) Hechler.

[illegible] those scholars who wish to verify the above, consult "Pennsylvania German Immigrants 1709-1786", Genealogical [illegible] the emigrants from the Zweibruecken district over a period of several years, and "Pennsylvania German Pioneers", Genealogical Publishing Co., Baltimore, 1966, pages 595-600. I will not take the space to name the headings on all three lists, but the last reads as follows:

"(List 216C) At the Courthouse at Philadelphia, on Saturday, the 14th of September, 1754

Present: Charles Willing, Esquire, Mayor.

Barclay, Capt John Brown, from Rotterdam, but last from Cowes ... did this day take the usual Oaths and Declarations to the ...

We know nothing further about George and his children for over seven years. Possibly he and Martin served a period of indentureship to pay for their passage. Perhaps the po... should be rendered as a probability. With George being in the forty per cenat of the passengers who could not write his name, his station in life may have been lower than even the rest of the ... the boat. They may have worked for other Hechler's that had paid their passage.

We do not know whether or not there was a family relationship, but we have records of people with the Hechler name in America as early as 1730. Pages inserted into the Bible of Christian Brobst of the Catawissa congregation, Albany twp., Berks Co., states that a daughter of Philip Brobst married C. Hechler by 1730. We can later place Christion Hechler, still in Albany twp. in 1760, ... Schneider and his wife Anna Cath. Hechler were sponsors to baptism on Feb. 25, 1740 at the First Reformed Church, Lancaster of George Peter, son of Peter Schneider and wife Louisa.

Vital record cards of Christ Lutheran Church, York, reveals to us ... George Vogel and Anna, a single woman. Some scholars list George Vogel as being the father of Barbara.

Only a few months after the birth of Martin's son, George and Martin became landowners! It must have been difficult, for they purchased the 185 acre farm from John Blasser with a down payment of 20 pounds upon signing a note on Jan 23, 1762, and obligated ... 10 pounds on Jan 19th of the next year, then on Jan 26th each year thereafter until 1771, at which time the debt of 112 pounds ... one pounds would be paid. The last payment must have been the interest on the note.

Men who in only a little over seven years has progressed from Russian peasant to landowner through voluntary bondage is deserving of having his land described for all of us to appreciate. Page 598 of York Co. Deeds preserves the transaction for us, so I quote: "22 Jan 1762 - Mtg - Between George Hechler & Martin Hechler of Manchester Twp. both Yoeman of the one part and John Blasser of the same place Yoeman of the other Part. -Mraham Kenner the 13 Apr 1752 entered his name with George Stevenson, Esq. in his Book at York fore a Warrent of 100 a. of land to include his improvement he then also obtained a certificate from the afs. The instrument was signed by George (H) Hechler with the same mark that he made in the courthouse in Philadelphia by Martin (A) Hechler, who had changed his mark from "H" to

A quick look at a map properly places Manchester about 10 miles north of York.

We do not know what happened to George's eldest son, Martin, between 1762 and the 14th day of August, 1769, but we intersect the trail of this pioneer at least twice more. I like to think that George and Martic prospered enough that George could buy [illegible] even farther west. We next locate him in Bedford Co. which is three or four counties west of York Co., in 1783. He is living in the Bethel Township and has 100 acres of land and owns livestock. The following year he has a dwelling house with 9 whites but we have no records of him owning land. Perhaps it is at this time that he sells his land and again moves westward to Fayette County.

It is not until 1790 that we hear about him again when he is listed in the 1790 Fayette Co. census, the first census of our nation. He was the only man in the entire United States whose name was spelled Hackler in the 1790 census. He headed a household of [illegible] three white males under 16, and four females including head of household. We find no trace of him in the 1800, 1810, or 1820 census, so we will assume that he moved from that state between 1790 and 1800. I have found no further record of his son George, born to Barbara Vugel on 31 Aug. 1761, listed above.

It may be Martin that is referred to in information furnished by reference may be to a son who he named Martin. Perhaps the subject referred to died at a relatively young age, for he had several minor children. In "The Natchez Court Records, 1767 -1805 Abstracts of Early Records", p. 570, "Unrecorded Land Claims" [illegible] wit: "No 1724. Claimants: Heirs of M. Hackler, 30 Mar. 1804. Witnesses: William Dunlee and Henry Fortner. Certificate D-36 Issued June 1806. Mississippi Terr., Jefferson Co. Charlotte, [illegible]ry, Samuel, Anna Maria, Jacob, and Esther Hackler, legal heirs and representatives of Martin Hackler, lately deceased, claim 640 [illegible]res on Coles's Cr. by virtue of the land having been settled by [illegible]d Hackler in his lifetime in 1797 and cultivated ever since [illegible] him. Esther Hackler, natural guardian of the heirs [illegible] aforesaid."

etc. concerning the sale of the farm to George the Son, my [illegible]

This is a lengthy document, so I will try to minimize further direct quotes. The son promised to pay to Jacob, "also one of the sons of the said George", fifteen pounds six weeks after, fifteen pounds two years after, ten pounds eight years after, and another ten pounds ten years after the death of the father. He agreed to pay to Elizabeth Frey, "one of the daughters of the said Father", forty pounds over a different schudule of years. He agreed to pay "unto the issue lawfully begotten on the Body of Barbara another Daughter of the aforesaid Father and [illegible]n wife of Frederich Houseal" another schedule of payments totaling forty [illegible] County Abstracts, Deed Book D, pp. 155-7.

Now we know the children that were referred to when Georg Hechler left his homeland. He and one son, Martin, bought a farm in [illegible] [illegible]s provided for Jacob, another son, as he has for his daughter [illegible]izabeth Frey and the issue of his deceased daughter Barbara [illegible]

Georg probably died during the winter of 1773-4. We have the following information: "Memorandum that Letters of [illegible]dministration with a Copy of an english Translation of a Will in [illegible]e German Language annexed were Granted to Jacob Hechler of the [illegible]state of George Hechler late of York County Yeoman Deceased" - [illegible]c- " this thirty first day of January 1774". His farm would [illegible]ve been an appropriate final resting place.

Additional notes:

p. 621, 623, and 625 of the aforementioned" Pennsylvania German [illegible]ioneers" refers to the arrival of Georg Hechler (his mark an "X") at Philadelphia on Sep 30, 1754 aboard the ship "Neptune". This man is well documented in "History of Bucks County", publication date unknown. It is not impossible that he was a [illegible]usin or nephew of our ancestor. The reader may find the account interesting.

"CALVIN F. HECKLER. The early ancestors of Calvin F. Heckler, both direct and collateral, settled in the southeastern counties of Pennsylvania more than one hundred and fifty years ago. Mr. Heckler is a descendent of George Heckler, a Redemptioner, who arrived in Philadelphia on the ship 'Neptune' Aug 30, 1754. He was purchased by John Steiner of North Coventry Township, Chester County, near Pottstown. George Heckler was the son of Michael Heckler, and was born in 1736 in the province of Lower Alsace, on the Rhine. He was obliged to work on a farm for three years in order to redeem his passage" -etc- "by his death Aug 28, 1814 had acquired considerable property".

Another Heckler whose biography is well known was a son-in-law of the Whitman who founded the nationally known firm that produces "Whitmans Chocolates" and other confections. This Heckler was president of that company for several years about 1920.

Calvin's biographer erred when he named George Heckler aboard the "Neptune". I have no doubt that he adopted that name, but he arrived as Goerg Hechler. I do not think we have kinship with the Hecklers this side of Prussia. There could have been kinship there, for they both were from the same area. Research continues in that area.

The ship carrying this eighteen year old man arrived in Philadelphia only sixteen days after the "Barclay". In 150 years, or less, his name evolved from Hechler to Heckler. We can see that three years labor was a possible way to gain passage, and was probably the way in which our Goerg obtained passage. Even if the reference through Calvin did not exist, we could eliminate him as a possible ancestor because he was not old enough to have fathered Martin, George, Elisabeth, Jacob, and Barbara, the five children we see when we read "Goerg Hechler of Ingelsheime leaves with his five children for America".

JOHANN GEORGE HECKLER (HACKLER), The Son

b. Ingelsheim, Palatinate Province, Prussia
After Feb 3, 1821
Elk Creek, Grayson County, Va.

With scant information, we surmise that George was younger in age than Martin and Elisabeth. Because of the custom of the times in transferring ownership of the land to the eldest son, and with Martin gone to seek his fortune elsewhere, we can surmise that George was older than Jacob. We do not know where to place Barbara. We only know that her death prior to Aug 14, 1769 had resulted in more than one child being motherless because of the "share and share alike" phrase.

We are fortunate to have an excellent preservation of records of the birth of George's and Elisabeth's children. We also know who the sponsors were when they were baptized. That data is contained in the records of the aforementioned Quickels' Church, from which records I find the following information:

Dates of Birth and Baptism	Child	Parents	Sponsors
Mr 6, 1771 Mr 17, 1771	Peter	Georg HECHLER Elis	Peter Schaffer and wife

The above information lists the known children of George and Elisabeth. I will later present a hypothesis about other [illegible]

[illegible] George and Jacob served their country in the period of the [illegible]utionary War. Note the metamorphosis of their name in the following records. rod these subjects. The three male descendents of Georg, the e children are enumerated in the May, 1968 issue of the was first to inform me that there was a system in those old
